The 3LOG User Conference presents a unique opportunity to develop your knowledge and skills. You'll have the chance to make valuable connections with forest products professionals from across the U.S. and Canada. Learn about the latest advanced features built into LIMS. Participate in discussions around future directions for development. You'll be able to meet and exchange ideas with forestry, forest products, and forestry software professionals.

Connect and Discover in San Antonio, May 15-17

We will start with a welcome reception on May 14th from 6:00pm to 8:00pm CT that will include refreshments and hors d'oeuvres. The program begins Wednesday, May 15, 2019, at 8am CT with breakfast and registration. It ends with open lab sessions that run until 12pm CT on Friday, May 17, 2019.

You'll receive a detailed program at the opening registration.

Benefits

- Increase your skills, productivity, and effectiveness on the job.
- Learn how to utilize complimentary products like LoaderWiz and LIMS Mobile.
- Investigate how your enterprise can use the latest features of the software.
- Take back to your company the results of discussions with your peers in the industry.

Who Should Attend

For every day LIMS users, such as log buyers and log clerks, the seminars refresh and reinforce initial training, provide a quick introduction to recently introduced features and offer an opportunity to confer with 3LOG users in other companies to pick up tips and tricks.

For managers and business analysts, the conference is an opportunity to see recently added features in LIMS and to determine whether there might be a benefit in incorporating them into your workflows. There will also be round tables where managers can raise issues and share best practices for forest products business administration. They may also want to learn specific skills, such as how to develop reports in LIMS and what its capabilities for data import and export are.

IT staff will find technical seminars such as those on LIMSService (a background component of LIMS) useful for supporting the software. They'll also benefit from attending the broad sessions where they'll get a better understanding of the user's business processes around the software are.

More seminars

At the last user conference, about two dozen companies sent employees for training. At this conference increases the number of seminars and there will be seminars for both new and experienced users of 3LOG Software.

What you get

The conference fee includes not only the seminars and round tables on the program, but also the meals, breaks and the official conference receptions and dinners.

Convenient billing

The conference fee is $350.

Invoices will be sent out after the user conference.

Discounts available

Attendees who register prior to March 1, 2019, will be billed at the special early-bird rate of $300.
